"GREEN" HISTORIC PRESERVATION ???

Contrary to what you may have heard, the idea of doing appropriate historic preservation of older buildings and at the same time incorporating energy efficient and sustainable design are not mutually exclusive. If you'd like to find out more about how this can be accomplished from experts, trades people and vendors, plan to attend the free-of-charge program described in this brochure.

On Saturday, May 19, 2012, from 1 pm until 4pm, the Historic Shelby Foundation will be hosting our third annual Preservation Trades Day highlighting "green" opportunities in historic preservation. The event will be held at the historic Bankers House at 319 North Lafayette Street in Shelby, NC.

Our program will be informal and allow you to have a maximum amount of one-on-one interaction with the presenters. Come and stay all afternoon or just drop by for a few minutes.
